Secretary of State Warren Christopher
U.S. Department of State

Dear Secretary Christopher:

I refer to my letters to you of May 13 and February 25 of this year which you have not acknowledged. Also never acknowledged were the Standard Form 95s I filed in 1991 and 1992 totalling $41,000,000. I sent you copies of the return mail receipts when I forwarded a copy of my June 8, 1993 letter to Janet Reno to you. Within days of mailing that package a computer disk and the originals of the mail receipts were stolen from my residence. I am, therefore, requesting under the Privacy Act the copy of the June 8 letter to Janet Reno I sent you, and the enclosures, including the copies of the mail receipts.

When you find who has that package, you will find who is directing the October Surprise coverup at State. I suspect it is Knute "Gene" Malmborg. Malmborg's secretary passed the first CIA death threat to me in March 1981 when I threatened to go public with my knowledge of Bush and Casey's trips to Europe to delay the release of our hostages. I did so as Rowan Gaither of the Grievance Staff was attempting to stop my $25,144 severance gratuity for selection out. I had no intention of keeping the "deal", and attempted to give the story to former NCS staffer Roger Morris in Santa Fe, New Mexico in April 1981 but we got into an argument when I characterized the Carter administration as incompetent. I also called the Democratic National campaign headquarters in August 1984 and was told there was no interest in the story. In view of the fact that former Grievance Board attorney Richard Greene told me the same month that the CIA had recruited the Court Reporter from the Hoover Reporting company to ensure her silence in the October Surprise, I decided the better part of valor was discretion at that point.

In my August 22, 1988 background interview with Security Contract Officer Larry Thies at the San Diego Public Library, Thies stated that Steve Miller, who bought the Hoover Reporting Company in 1983 and named it after himself, would not provide me copies of my grievance deposition containing the October Surprise testimony as he was a George Bush supporter. In a phone conversation with me last Fall, Miller loudly and vehemently denied having anything to do with my case, yet Joanne Lishman and Elaine Adesso of the Grievance Staff and Board confirm that it was the Hoover Company that took the October Surprise testimony from myself and Mark Dion on December 1, 1980, which was bound and paginated separately at the insistence of Dion and Richard Greene. I was not given a copy of the testimony with my copy of the hearing but got it from the female court reporter who expressed a desire to date me. She said then El Salvador DCM Dion had taken her out to dinner and put the make on her, while bad mouthing me. The woman in question looks remarkably like Peggy Robohm, the CIA "honey pot" (according to former CIA official Frank Shepp) who was used to discredit Richard Brenneke on the April 7, 1992 Frontline "October Surprise" broadcast on which I also appeared. In August 1988 Larry Thies informed me that Peggy Robohm was not the woman's real name and that she had lied to me about her age by about 10 years. Thies also said she would refuse cooperation with me as I had reneged on my promise to take her to lunch at Duke Ziebert's.

I recently wrote Thies in care of the Los Angeles Diplomatic Security Office where he works. I took a conciliatory tone as I had threatened to slam his head into the wall during the course of our 1988 meeting when he told me he had seen the breast of my former Mexican girlfriend who was carrying a child by another man she said she would name after me. Upon leaving the interview I informed Thies that I would "hunt him down" like a "dog." At that point he was kneeling with his head to the wall as I threatened to emasculate him if he didn't allow me to remove the listening device from his back. I regained control of myself and left with some taunting parting comments for my electronic audience, who sent the San Diego police after me that night in a pattern of harassment that has continued to the present.

If you look at the record of my conversation with Thies you will note he said I was cordial throughout. I, in fact, said I would shoot Rowan Gaither's eyes out, put one of Mark Dion's eyes out and emasculate him, thus making him a "typical FSO-half blind and no balls", as well as blind and emasculate Ambassador Robert White. Thies played this tape of my comments to those individuals as well as my comment re Judge Gerhard Gesell that if he was too senile to keep up with his case load he should resign. That is why Gesell refused my request for a copy of my 1987 pro se lawsuit lost in the DC District Court filing system due to the malfeasance of a clerk I had words with when she refused to serve the U.S. Attorney's Office, as I had not put the address on the USM 285.

It is an outrage that Thies, Malmborg, Gaither, and Dion still work for State. If I don't receive some cooperation soon I may start taking a more proactive stance in my self-defense.

Sincerely yours,

David E. Henderson

I learned the above facts from Diplomatic Security Officer Larry Thies when he interviewed me in August 1988. Thies also learned that I had lost all documents relating to the case when my sister-in-law threw out my briefcase when I left my brother's house after a family feud, in October 1987. Thies then went into a storage facility in Van Nuys California and took possession of other documents relating to my grievances and lawsuits. My furniture had been sold for failure to pay the storage fees, and the facility manager was happy to rid himself of the contents of my file cabinet, upon assurances by Thies that he would return them to me.

I was not rehired as I refused the bribe of a $50,000 a year job to keep silent about my knowledge that the Reagan-Bush campaign delayed the release of our hostages in Iran in 1980 in exchange for a promise to ship Iran arms secretly after the elections.

In the course of my lawsuit, which was dismissed without a hearing or granting my motion for discovery of my personnel records, the U. S. Attorney's office hid the fact of my 1987-1988 reapplications for employment, my 1987 pro se lawsuit, and the fact that I had been denied employment on the spurious ground that I failed the background investigation. All of these facts were well-known to Assistant U. S. Attorney Diane Sullivan who has handled my case since at least 1985, when she cut a deal with my attorney Bridget A. Mugane to trash all parts of my case having to do with my assignment in Asuncion. Ms. Mugane had developed a personal relationship with my former supervisor Mark Dion who had falsely accused me of leaking intelligence on the Iran hostage release in a December, 1980 hearing. Ms. Mugane knew that by dragging my case out on remand for three years from 1983 to 1987, that the administrative record would be stripped from the file when it was retired to Suitland and she also threw out her copies of the lawsuit on the spurious claim that she had no room to keep it. This is a curious reaction on the part of someone I accused of gross malpractice in my 1987 pro se suit, sending her a copy of the action.

I have been attempting unsuccessfully, to get a copy of CA 87-1758 since last summer, but have been stonewalled by DC District Court Clerk Theodore Raymond who informed me falsely that no case records can be obtained through the mail. Raymond cut in on the conversation I was having with a clerk by the name of Jan, and she told me I could only talk to him about the case, hinting that Raymond would hinder my access to it.

I am enclosing a letter from Georgetown law students Bill Bush and Teresa Kolb, indicating their inability to obtain the case for me. Raymond's lack of cooperation may be that he was bribed, or simply out of personal animus. Larry Thies was wired live when he talked to me in 1988 and he played the part of the tape in which I referred to the clerk's office of the court as a "third world operation," a statement Raymond took as racist as well as comments I made about the terminated clerk. I respectfully request your assistance as the supervising court to help me obtain my records from the DC District Court.

Sincerely yours

David E. Henderson

Dear Mr. Berndt:

I called you on November 24 to report the following incident that occurred at the Thunderbird Graduate school. At 7:00 AM I was conversing with a student in the Crossroads Cafe when three uniformed campus security people approached me and asked me if I was David Henderson. When I replied affirmatively, they said that I should leave the campus. I politely inquired whether I had done anything wrong and stated that as an alumnus I believed I had the right to be on campus, pointing out that I had spent the previous Thursday night in a Key Manager room and that there had been no problems. I then offered to leave immediately after I finished my business at the alumni office.

I was told roughly by the large individual heading the posse that I had to leave immediately or the police would be called. I then quietly departed campus, escorted to my car by security man "J.R." who stated that he remembered me from my student days in 1981-1982 and that he knew of no reason why I should not be allowed on campus, stating only that his "boss" had given the order.

I believe the instruction in fact came from President Herberger who had learned of my presence on the campus the previous week, and had instructed staff to be on the lookout for me should I return to finish my business, as I stated I would.

Dr. Herberger had confronted me with the charge that I was smuggling drugs from Mexico at the April, 1991 Mexico Forum, stating that the accusation was made by Charles Lowe the President of the LA alumni association for most of the ten years I was in California. Lowe did not like me for personal and political reasons, a fact discovered by State Department background investigator Larry Thies in 1988 when I reapplied for a job with State. In the course of his investigation Thies realized that I had knowledge that the Reagan-Bush campaign delayed the release of our hostages in Iran in 1980 and that a company I had worked for after leaving Thunderbird in 1982 had been involved in illegal arms shipments to Iran through Europe as part of the payoff. (I learned of this only after I left Anglo-American Aviation in Burbank when my predecessor as Export Manager, T-Bird Steve Salvodelli, informed me that the shipments had started in 1981.) My knowledge of George Bush's and William Casey's trips to Europe to cut a deal with the Iranians was more direct, a CIA officer in October 1980 informed me there was an intelligence report on the trips that was being destroyed. I have lived under a CIA death threat for the last 13 years, and the threat became imminent in 1988 as the "October Surprise" story came into the mainstream media.

In an attempt to silence me, Diplomatic Security Officer Larry Thies threatened me with arrest on false charges of drug smuggling in 1988. It is these charges that Charles Lowe was happy to spread throughout the alumni association, and with narcotics agents, one of whom broke my arm in February 1991. The individual had appeared in my life in October, 1990 when I started attending alumni events to plan the Mexico Forum, and LA alumni president Diane Carter informed Lowe that I frequented the Sheraton Laemelle Theatre in Los Angeles. The individual confronted me over a three month period pretending to be an aggressive pan handler. At one point I told Ms. Carter to tell Lowe that if the individual did not stop harassing me I would knock him down the steps in front of the theatre. The next time I saw him the agent stated that he knew I had threatened to knock him down the stairs, and made a move to do so to me. I escaped to the theatre and went to the manager who reported the incident to the police, with the result that the agent no longer confronted me at the theatre. Diane Carter and PJ Garrido, the Program Chairman of the Forum, persisted in asking me where I lived, and when they determined the general neighborhood, the agent showed up at a convenience store I used, where he made the attack on me that broke my arm.

I still had a full arm cast on and was in pain when Dr. Herberger opened our conversation at the President's Reception before the Forum by stating, "Charlie Lowe says you are dealing drugs." I pointed out to Herberger that the charges were absurd since I was a licensed attorney and was teaching in the LA community college system, which required a statewide police check.

Dr. Herberger persisted in a lengthy personal attack denigrating my role in planning the Mexico Forum, when in fact I had outlined the program and recruited 10 of the 20 panelists. I called Cheryl Hammond in the AT&T San Diego office in October 1990 and attained an enthusiastic commitment to sponsor the Forum at the $5,000 level. When I reported this to Mac Messenger, the Program Chairman, I was ignored, as Lowe had destroyed my credibility in the chapter. Cheryl can tell you of the attempts Lowe and PJ Garrido made to embarrass me, including spelling her name wrong on the Forum brochure. The attempts at persecuting me became so obvious that the chapter joke was that I was like the male victim in the movie "Misery."

Several weeks before my arm was shattered, alumnus Mary Lou Quinn called me to warn me to be careful as "they" were planning something serious.

The morning of the Forum, chapter Vice President Michael Hatch refused to give me my lunch ticket and threatened to call the police if I did not leave the Forum. I stayed and ate lunch, but it was obvious that the slander against me had ruined my relations with people such as Donn Deffebach, the Southern Pacific Vice President I had recruited, who had previously asked me for my resume, but barely spoke to me at lunch.

Bob Stots, who graduated with me, attempted to get me to come to his home so that Hatch could apologize to me, but I was too tired to go. I heard later that Hatch had in fact intended to have police arrest me if I showed up. Fellow alumni also told me that Dr. Herberger had told them I would be arrested if I ever set foot on the Glendale campus again. I was informed that Herberger did not really believe that I was a drug dealer but that he wanted to retaliate for my angry reaction to his accusations at the President's Reception.

I did not believe that Dr. Herberger would be that petty, and called his secretary in November 1981 to get information about the balloon race. I desired to meet several people in the class of 1981 who knew that I had been living under a CIA death threat. Besides my housemates at 6237 Marconi, they included a coed who wanted to marry me but whom I informed that I did not want to put in danger. I told her that if she were still single, I would meet her at her class balloon race in 1991 and determine if it was safe to do so. This story made the rounds of the campus and it came back to me via Gina Taglia of my hometown of Oak Park, Illinois. Security Officer Larry Thies talked to Ms. Taglia in the course of his investigation and warned Dr. Herberger that I might be coming back to campus in 1991. When I called Herberger's secretary, she accused me of being a drug smuggler, stated that she and Dr. Herberger had so informed the coed, and that if I came on campus I would be arrested.

My name has been removed from the mailing labels for the Thunderbird alumni magazine for two years and is periodically dropped from the computer at the alumni office, as Helen told me it was done on September 15 of this year after I sent Dr. Herberger a copy of my September 9 letter to Senator Terry Sanford, who was heading the Senate "October Surprise" inquiry, with a conciliatory hand written note-- but got no reply. When I asked Herberger's secretary in 1991 why she was helping Larry Thies cover up treason, she stated that she and Herberger were Republicans. I pointed out to her that Larry Thies was complicit in two murders of people who knew about my knowledge of "October Surprise" facts, my grievance panel member Woodrow Leake, and Frank O'Heski the insurance agent who was going to make a payment for my broken arm until "terminated" mysteriously while on business in Arizona. Perhaps if the police and FBI become interested in the murders we will have a chance to hear Dr. Herberger and his secretary talk to a lie detector.

In the meantime, I will appreciate your help in determining what happened. I am very upset that I have been denied access to the campus and its records. I paid $50 to the alumni placement office for services but have not heard from them.

On the morning I called you I also called Gary Pacific, an adjunct faculty member who works at McDonnell Douglas International counter-trade in Mesa. Gary and I have known each other since 1984 and we worked on the relief effort for Mexico City after the 1985 earthquake, traveling on a Northrup plane with supplies and sharing a hotel room. Gary knows I am neither a drug dealer nor terrorist and he said he wanted to talk to Dr. Herberger.

I hope this can be resolved peaceably in the Thunderbird family as the damage to my reputation, job prospects and emotional suffering now total several times Thunderbird's $6 million endowment.

Sincerely yours,

David Henderson

Dear Secretary Christopher:

I refer to my letters of September 7, May 13, and February 25 concerning the "October Surprise".

On November 24 I was thrown off the campus of the American Graduate School of International Management (Thunderbird) in Glendale, Arizona. The base cause was the five year campaign of slander diplomatic security officer Larry Thies has been running against me since our interview in the course of my 1988 background investigation. I will have no trouble proving the fifty-six million dollars in tort claims I currently have against State as Thies' slander that I am a drug smuggler and terrorist must have been heard by thousands of people now. In December 1990, Charles Lowe, the former head of the Los Angeles Thunderbird alumni association accused me at the table of a Christmas dinner of being a drug smuggler, repeating the accusation so that another alumnus who worked for the Los Angeles Lakers heard. Mr. Lowe has conspired with his fellow Mormon and right wing Republican Larry Thies to destroy me, to silence me over the October Surprise. I intend to ask the court for treble damages when the case goes to trial, as I expect it will since you have the very people in L/CID who have covered up the October Surprise for years "investigating" my claims. In routing my September 7 letter and enclosures to L/CID, your staff ensured that nothing will be done about my Privacy Act appeal, filed last December and remailed to you twice, Clark Dittmer once, and Wendy Sherman once, without acknowledgment or reply. In my September 7 letter to Wendy Sherman, copied to you, I requested on page 2, "every document in every file system that the State Department has on me, that I have not already been provided." Ms. Sherman's staff apparently ignored that request or if it was forwarded to Clark Dittmer's shop, it went into the black hole of Frank Machak's in box. I repeat my request for every document State has on me. I also request under the Freedom of Information Act, the names of all Schedule C appointees to the Bureau of Oceans, Environment and Science in 1980-1981. One of those individuals invited me to reapply to State in 1987 as he apparently believed I would win my lawsuit. He had married another Schedule C appointee from Senator L. Bennett Johnston's staff, a woman known as "Bo-Beep" who also knows the October Surprise story and my role in it. "Bo-Beep" was the object of my desire as well as that of my supervisor Martin Prochnik who had me detailed to the Department of Energy where he instructed my supervisors not to give me any work in December 1980. He then initiated an affair with "Bo-Beep" on the promise that he would get her a permanent appointment to State, which he did not succeed in doing. This incident is one of the things I will use to argue I was emotionally damaged when I left State in February, 1981 and should be given a retroactive medical retirement.

Nothing has been done to respond to my October Surprise information at either State or Justice due to the large number of Reagan-Bush appointees who still infest both Departments. I call your attention to my November 16, 1992 letter to Lawrence Eagleburger asking his assistance on the October Surprise. The only thing "Mr. Foreign Service" did with the request was to see that my Privacy Act appeal got permanently derailed.

I talked with former NSC staffer Roger Morris in Santa Fe last week. Morris remembers that I told him my grievance file contained an accusation by Mark Dion that I had leaked intelligence on the efforts of the Reagan-Bush Campaign to delay the release of our hostages in 1980. Indeed, as the story hit the mainstream in 1991, Morris referred both Sy Hersh of the New York Times and the BBC to me but they couldn't find me. I reneged on my promise to send Morris copies of my grievance transcript in April 1981 as we nearly came to blows over my characterization of the Carter foreign policy as "incompetent". He was particularly sensitive as to my criticisms of Tony Lake's handling of the Cuban refugee situation. Lake had refused to talk to me about the October Surprise in December 1980 as he was irate that three Dissent Channel messages I wrote warning of the Muriel boat lift were leaked to John Maclean of the Chicago Tribune. Maclean was the one who originally gave me the October Surprise story as it happened and I was able to check it out with the Iran Desk, all of whom were rooting for Reagan-Bush to win, as they believed the Carter administration's handling of the hostage situation was inept.

I have been told by October Surprise investigators that the reason the Clinton administration has done nothing on October Surprise is because of an implicit deal with George Bush to let bygones be bygones. Unfortunately, my life is still in danger over the October Surprise, so I must press on. The next communication you will have from me is the service of a lawsuit.

Sincerely yours,

David E. Henderson

(M) and the Bureau of

Administration (A) My

fellow ² classmate John Clark of the 4th class
 of Foreign Service Officers
 starting in October 1969,
 told Larry Phibbs in August 1988 that Mr. Clark was frantically moving files
 from one office to another
 to keep me from the Smoking Guns of the October Surprise - 1980-1981
 Iran Hostage Release Delay.
 Please check the secretaries
 and Administrative files
 of the main persons.
 Ten days after I received the letter of

September 3rd, 2005 re
this FOIA/Privacy Act, request I filed on Appeal but I never got another response, even though Congress man Silvestre Reyes made inquiries. I do not have my act over, 2005
Appeal and request you
to tell us whether you
ever received the appeal
and replied to it.

It is incredible
that you have no files
of Larry Thier's background
update on me in 1987-1988.

 I got a copy of the report filed by Larry Thier and St. Quentin Custody, but want to get the whole report and
 supporting documentation.

I reiterate that I
 want the financial records
 of my ~~last~~ update of
 my Top Secret Clearance.
 Thier spent several hundred thousand dollars to examine
 my life over four continents,
 expending out of my end of year funds. I reiterate I want computer
 records of these expenditures.

The Office of the Legal Office has an entire file
 drawer of my grievances
 and ~~law~~ suits and related records. I want the records of "L" to see
 what happened to me.
 1987-1988 Background Update.

Larry Thies told me in my August 22, 1988
 meeting with him in
 the San Diego Library
 that state had buried
 records of the Security Agreements I signed with the Bureau of Intelligence and Research

6
(FNR) in the C.H. Place
check any computer or other records that reference
my name with the C.H.

Sincerely yours,
